Tue, Jan 8 6:30 pm RC 6:30 PM Social 7:00 PM Meeting	SO! General Meeting – “World of Water” Presentation summary: Today’s world of water is wrought with quality issues, public policy changes and shortage concerns for the future. Water is essential for life and necessary for agriculture, industry, recreation and municipalities to thrive. Future water needs are being evaluated in every community in the nation and some areas will need to drastically diminish their usage to meet the water demands of an ever-increasing population. This talk will discuss how Durango and the state of Colorado are addressing the current and future water supply and usage challenges Speaker bio: Jenny Goodwin is a retired petroleum geologist living in Durango, CO. She is a dedicated SO! member and is currently consulting on various geology and water projects in the area.	Easy and Fun

Wed, Jan 9 6:30 pm RC	Avalanche Essentials for the Recreationalist For SO! outing leaders and participants in backcountry winter outings. If you enjoy spending time in the winter environment around Durango, then refresh or add to your knowledge by attending this two hour clinic to learn the essentials to traveling safely in avalanche terrain. Topics to be covered include terrain selection, safe travel techniques, forecasting, decision making and much more. Brett Davis is the Assistant Director of Recreational Services at Fort Lewis College. He has been directing the Outdoor Pursuits program at Fort Lewis for the past ten years in which he teaches avalanche courses, backcountry skiing, and many other winter pursuits. Josh Kling is the Coordinator of Permitting and Programming for Outdoor Pursuits. As the former owner of Kling Mountain Guides, he has extensive experience in avalanche education and in traveling in the winter environment. He is an AIARE course leader and has taught hundreds to safely enjoy what the Durango backcountry has to offer. For questions contact Harding Cure at hardingcure@gmail.com	Educational

RC 6:30 PM social 7:00 PM meeting	Speakers: Debra van Winegarden and Thomas Ward Presentation summary: Let's go virtual Class 3 scrambling in scary places. Come along on three most challenging SO! hikes (surprise!) while Debra discusses the origin and development of her blog, Earthline: The American West. She'll talk about how hard it is to keep up with SO! hiking maniacs while snapping photos and taking notes for Durango Herald columns. Thomas Ward will comment on photography. Speaker bio: Debra spent her childhood summers backpacking in the Sierra Nevada and camping for weeks at a time in Yosemite. She began keeping field notes at age five and has documented every hike over six decades. Debra was a librarian and information manager for Chevron Corporation's Patent, Trademark, and Licensing Department in San Francisco. Keeping track of complicated things comes naturally. Thomas Ward, retired computer programmer, has been a photographer hobbyist since he turned his family room half-bath into a darkroom at age twelve.
